the Commonwealth War Graves Commission

Pilot Officer Maybury's death occurred in especially tragic circumstances. Together with three other members of their Hampden aircraft they were returning to Scampton after a raid over Germany. They taxied for dispersal with the ground crew nearby when an unexploded bomb crashed to ground killing the four crew members and four of the ground crew. Victor Maybury's grave is in Scampton Churchyard. The other seven young men were laid to rest near their own homes.
